

Sickle Disease Research; An Update: Hearing of the Committee on Labor and Human Resources United States Senate One Hundred Third Congress (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Sickle Disease Research; An Update: Hearing of the Committee on Labor and Human Resources United States Senate One Hundred Third Congress Senate, Committee on Labor and Human Resources, Washington, DC. The committee met, pursuant to notice, at 1:34 p.m., in room Sd-430, Dirksen Senate Office Building, Senator Edward M. Kennedy (chairman of the committee) presiding. Present: Senators Kennedy, Simon, and Wellstone. Opening Statement of Senator Simon Senator Simon presiding. The hearing will come to order. This is a hearing requested specifically by Senator Bennett Johnston, and we are pleased to have it. I am pinch-hitting temporarily for Senator Kennedy, who will be along before very long to join us for the hearing. The hearing is about sickle cell anemia, a very major problem in our country, and the question is whether we are doing enough research in this field. In the whole field of science, there is no one in the U.S. Senate who is as knowledgeable as Senator Bennett Johnston. I have to say in candor, I do not know if that applies to sickle cell anemia, but I have worked with him on a variety of other scientific projects and have always been amazed at the depth of his knowledge. One of the questions is whether we should be earmarking funds, and how do we make sure that we do the kind of research job that needs to be done. So we are pleased to call on you, Senator Johnston, to open this up. Statements Of Hon. J. Bennett Johnston, A U.S. Senator From The State Of Louisiana; And Hon. William Jefferson, A Representative In Congress From The State Of Louisiana Senator Johnston. Mr. Chairman, thank you very much, and thank you for your very kind comments, which I appreciate. Mr. Chairman, this bill would establish a sickle cell anemia research center at Southern University in Baton Rouge. I have a written statement, which I would like to submit for the record. Senator Simon. It will be entered in the record. Senator Johnston. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
