

Motivation - Doing Your Best Is The Devils Lie: I Want You To Do What Is Required (Advice & How To Book 1)

Doing Your Best Is The Devils Lie: I Want You To Do What Is Required is an interesting look into the socially acceptable teaching that doing your best is good enough and how dangerous this mindset can be. Many of you7 have grown up being taught to do your best. Many believe these words to be uplifting, provide motivation, and inspiration and even to a point that this mindset answers the question how can we get happiness. Is this truly encouragement or are all the teachers, [parents and influences on your life actually teaching you to fail? The author, Dr. Treat Preston, a leading research behavioral scientist at Applied Mind Sciences Institute, provides an interesting exploration of this subject and actually provides his research on mind studies to prove his premise I need you to do what is required! This book will teach you how to achieve, how to develop the proper mindsets to get anything you want but more importantly, this book will teach you take responsibility for your life and throw off the yoke of low self esteem.
