

HOW TO MAKE HOMEMADE CHINESE TAKEOUT RECIPES: Why buy takeout when you can make it at home

I love chinese takeout. The problem is that most fail to satisfy my chinese takeout cravings. I dont know about you, but it seems recently that finding a decent Chinese Restaurant for takeout is difficult to find. Most lack that fresh taste. Isnt that what Chinese Cuisine is all about? Fresh products, fresh vegetables? With my frustration and countless disappointments, I started cooking my own chinese food that most of us would recognize, and order on a typical chinese menu for takeout. This condensed book is a handy go-to place to view those dishes when our cravings come calling for some chinese takeout. Keep in mind, that these recipes are base recipes. Once you start with the base, you can add or decrease spices and ingredients for your own personal taste. If you have noticed, asian cooking typically requires more preparation time than cooking time. If you have the time, I suggest prepping most of the ingredients the night before, it helps making dinner easier after a long day of WOK (work)! I hope you and your family will be able to see how much fresher your Chinese dishes will be compared to your local Chinese Restaurant takeouts. Enjoy and happy cooking!
