

Hunting the Past

An explosion destroys fourteen year old Mishko's home, killing his grandparents. The explosion was no accident. It was planned - planned by those who want to stop Mishko from finding out about the mother he never knew. Instead, it drives him on to search for answers to his pained screams of 'Why me?'. As Mishko hunts clues to his past, people from his past are hunting him. Beginning in England the search for answers moves swiftly, with the aid of a little magic, to the far away forest that was the home of his mother. The experiences are at times frightening, sometimes amusing and often enlightening. Can Mishko stay ahead of his pursuers? And if he does, will he get the answers he is looking for? Find out in Hunting the Past, a combination of adventure, fantasy and thriller.
