

China and the Asia Pacific Economy

The 21st century is widely projected to be the Asian Century! The Asia Pacific region has been the world's fastest growing region since 1965. This book provides a timely and insightful examination of the key issues involved in China's economic relationships with the other Asian Pacific economies. It sheds light on the possible directions of change in the years to come in the economic role China plays within the broader Asia Pacific region.
