

Suffering in Slow Motion: Bringing Hope to Families Dealing with Terminal Illnesses

How does it feel to be diagnosed with a terminal illness? How do you handle your journey toward death? How does it feel to be the spouse or caretaker of the one who is increasingly debilitated? Where can I get help? Where is God in all this? This book answers these questions and many more. Richard says, In the end, it comes down to three things: faith, family, and friends. Pamala adds, I pray that our families suffering has done some good, that these words will get off the pages and into hearts. Pamala is an extraordinary mentor, renowned success coach, trainer, and author of 5 books. More than Rice, a novel about human trafficking, is being made into a movie. As an international speaker, Pamala is delivering on the dream that everyone can have an extraordinary life! She helps individuals from celebrity leaders to ordinary men and women create the next great chapter of the magnificent life they were meant to live! She shares transparently; the heartbreak of a child lost in drugs and alcohol, taking on guardianship of 2 granddaughters, being a caregiver to her husband of 25 years through a 16-year-long degenerative brain disease, living through a tragic accident when the doctor told her she would never walk again on her own. But Pamala proved them wrong! She went back to college to start a new career which meant moving across the country to start over. She is well qualified to speak about obstacles and overcoming them through her books, e-encouragement, blogs and speaking events. Pamala is inspiring people around the world with her message of re-starting for your extraordinary life.
