

Cartwheels in the Rain: Finding Faith in the Wake of the Unthinkable

On February 14, 2008, while Joe and Laurel Dubowski were exchanging Valentines gifts, a tragedy was unfolding on the campus of Northern Illinois University. A gunman opened fire on students in a classroom, and their daughter, Gayle, was one of six who died that day. In this brave and hopeful book, Joe takes us along on a journey he would never have chosen to travel. He recounts the details as they moved toward an understanding that was unthinkable and gut-wrenching. Introducing us to twenty-year-old Gayle, he celebrates her life and her faith. Gayle loved the rain, and would run outside and do cartwheels in a downpour. A book for all who have experienced loss and for all who comfort them, Cartwheels in the Rain is an affirmation that whatever we are called to face in this life, God is always there to hold us, to carry us, to see us through.
