

From Adam and Eve to the Present - A Human Journey

After having a DNA analysis done of my Y-chromosome, as part of the IBM Genographic Project, in which were identified markers tracing my ancestry back to Adam, I extended the genetic analysis with historical and other information to produce a stirring and exciting journey of the Irish, or Celtic, peoples from Adam and Eve until the twentieth century. Join with me and journey back through the mists of time to the very beginnings of human society on earth and follow the challenging and exciting journey of the Irish through time. Learn, at the same time, how DNA proves we were created and did not evolve from lower species.
