

Grief Recovery Group (GRG) Handbook For Healing

At first impression, the thought that we can actually heal from the pain of deep loss may seem like a fallacy. For those grieving a loved ones death, it may even seem disrespectful to their memory. After any type of deep loss, it may feel as though being truly happy again is impossible, or something we should feel guilty for desiring. Yet, deep down inside, our hearts yearn for peace and joy. We do not take the impact of grief and its effects lightly. We also do not take lightly the process of recovering from loss. This program was birthed out of inspiration received after our own personal struggles to deal with several, deep personal losses with little support. We are not Psychology or Medical professionals, nor are we Grief Counselors. We simply have walked the path from grief to healed when there was no formal program to help and no one to show us a prescription for healing. Individually and together, we have endured many life changing losses. Some of our losses have included the death of an infant and only child; loss of entire family and a plunge into homelessness; giving up an only child for adoption; divorce; and more. Miraculously, when we were all but ready to give up, we pressed on. Some told us our situations were hopeless, even suggesting that we resign ourselves to that fact; a suggestion that, if accepted, would extinguish all hope and essentially steal life itself from anyone. But The Truth is greater than facts! And, by grace, we have come to a place we called healed. It is a place of peace, purpose and yes joy! It is through our journeys (individually and as a couple), and from this place of healed, that we received the inspiration for this program. We came to learn and understand from experience that there IS a prescription for how to heal from the pain of deep loss. It is a prescription established in ancient times. And we have found it to still be effective today. Yet, it has been lost to modern, western society. So countless, disheartened souls tragically suffer in silence and search aimlessly for answers, with little or no support; just as we ourselves did for many years. This should not be so! There is hope! We believe there is a prescribed path to HEALED! We have experienced it ourselves and watched many others come to know this victory too! It is prescribed by our very Creator Himself. And it is available to anyone who is willing to apply His Word.
