

Metal: The Trevin Project, Book One

Delbert Hanks is running out of time. He was an ordinary 15 year-old teenager living with his mom in the quiet town of Claxburg, Maryland, until a chance encounter with an army soldier turned his life upside-down. Now a mysterious and deadly illness has infected his body, as well as his mind. And he's discovered that his bones are slowly transforming into metal. Join him on his adventure as he unravels the dangerous meaning behind his infection and the fateful purpose of the The Trevin Project.
