

Make a plan for your life: easy way to make a plan to reach your goal and achieve it by Alan MOUHLLI

make a plan for your life is a motivational book for, more than 10 years of researching and studies to make it happen, if you have an idea or something you want to do but you dont know how you will find the way. some of the best quotes you will find here, some of the brain motivation and more .... Motivation is, in a living organism, component or process that sets its commitment to a specific activity. It determines the trigger in a certain direction with the desired intensity and ensure the extension to the completion or interruption. This concept differs from the dynamism, energy or being active. Motivation takes today a leading position in an organization. It is crucial for productivity among employees. Usually manifested by the deployment of energy (in various aspects such as enthusiasm, diligence, perseverance), motivation is trivially considered a power reserve. But more than a form of potential energy, the motivation is an instance of integration and control of many parameters related to the opportunities of an environment and to the demands of a situation. Also the role of it is motivation proportionate to the degree of ambiguity and ambivalence of a situation: it must dispel the complexity or confusion data and give them different values ??before drawing a conclusion in terms of behavior: the choice and investment in the preferred direction. Nothing is more unfathomable that the system of motivations behind our actions.
