It is an appropriate time to review developments in China and suggest what needs to be done in the future. A team of experts has been gathered for this formidable task. They come from Australia, China, Hong Kong and the United States. Each author deals with a specific policy area, and the chapters will cover: what has been achieved since 1978; an evaluation of the policies and reforms so far with emphasis on what needs to be done in the future; what are the plans of Chinese leaders on further reforms and future changes, and what is the authors evaluation of such plans; and what will be the impact of the leadership succession following Dengs death.
