

Tony & Tina Color Energy: How Color Can Transform Your Life

Everyone has a color they adore, and another they can't stand -- nobody's impartial when it comes to color. It inspires us, soothes us, excites us. But few of us realize just how much influence color has on our bodies and minds: its electromagnetic vibrations can actually encourage feelings of love, accelerate healing, change our entire outlook on life. That's the power of color. Anthony Gill and Cristina Bornstein are famous for bringing the energetic power of color to the main-stream. The founders of Tony&Tina Vibrational Remedies -- a cosmetics company committed to the power of color, aroma, and positive thought -- Tony and Tina are dedicated to understanding how vibrational remedies such as aromatherapy and color therapy can enhance our lives. Now they move beyond their fabulous cosmetics to Tony&Tina Color Energy, a complete guide to balancing and energizing your body, mind, and spirit with color. How can changing the colors around you change your life? Tony and Tina begin by telling us how color works, how energy works, and how the two come together to have a therapeutic effect. You'll learn about the body's seven energy centers, or chakras, and how each has long been associated with color as well as with specific concerns such as love, self-expression, and spirituality. You'll learn that when the body is deficient in certain energy waves or colors, it responds both physically and emotionally. Tony and Tina offer a simple diagnostic test that reveals exactly which color you need, and ten simple exercises to help you absorb the right color energy. The second half of the book is full of practical applications, showing how to use color energy in your home, wardrobe, and makeup. You'll learn how color can actually cure insomnia, increase willpower, aid communication, relieve pain, encourage romance, promote success at work, and help us all create the reality we desire.

Throughout the book are stories of color readings with clients, and personal anecdotes about Tony and Tina's own experiences living and learning about color. A blend of ancient wisdom, scientific findings, personal stories, and inspirational coaching, Tony & Tina Color Energy will engage you, delight you, enlighten you, and offer you a path to renewal.
