

The Mentoring Clinic

Born in South Baltimore City in March of 1942, my mother moved my two sisters and me to a new housing development for military families in Baltimore County when I was three. My youthful years were spent fishing, crabbing, tree climbing, catching snakes and other forms of small wildlife in Turner Station, Maryland. In my late teenage years, I was a feared gangbanger-without a gun. As my interests and curiosity about life matured, I wanted to comprehend the tenets of manhood. I chose the teachings of Elijah Muhammad rather than opting into the military where many young men around me headed for their manhood classes. During my childhood fling with wildlife, I had a serious desire to study the laws of nature. I had no access to technology or even conventional equipment like a magnifying glass, but I would do such things as use a piece of glass to study a blade of grass and everything around that blade. I would sit for hours on the waters edge, and as I followed the motions of the waters, I would travel all around the world. (I was afraid of the sensation of doing it in a boat or even in the water.) In my adult years, I wanted to further the development of my whole self. I attended meetings: The Theosophical Society which provided an array of spiritual studies. Initiation into the Moorish Science Temple of America. Continuing education classes on the science of meditation and yoga Read and studied the works of Joseph Murphy, Ernest Holmes, Noble Drew, Ali Edgar Casey, et. al. Several Orders of the Masonic Society. Spiritual and physical training in the nation of Islam.

I wanted to see further than the rituals that people practice. I wanted to go behind the veil. I wanted to connect my findings to my minds eye. The Mentoring Clinic will allow me to share some of these techniques that nature has provided to gain access into ones own mind. For this I am
