This ancient Zen story speaks to the power of small moments: There were two old masters sitting side by side. One of them reached for a needle and began to mend some clothes. What are you doing? Dongshan asked. Im mending clothes. How do you do that? One stitch is like the next, said Shenshan. What, after twenty years of practice thats all you can say? said Dongshan Shenshan put down his needle and turned to his companion. Well then tell me. How do you sew? As though the entire earth were spewing flames, said Dongshan. Your life can be filled with moments where each one is like the next where you make the same choices youve made before, or you can choose to live a vibrant life full of flames and color and creative living. Use the tips and meditations in this book to develop mindful creativity so you can live your life as if the entire earth were spewing flames.
